To Whom It May Concern,

I am Wei Hong, Chair Professor at Southeast University, IEEE Fellow and Academician of the Chinese Academy of Sciences. I am pleased to provide this letter in strong support of Dr. Yan Luo for his application to a postdoctoral research position.

I have had the opportunity to observe Dr. Luo's academic development and professional conduct through scholarly interactions and academic exchanges. He has consistently demonstrated a high level of academic rigor, intellectual discipline, and professional maturity, which are essential qualities for advanced research in complex and rapidly evolving scientific fields.

Dr. Luo shows a clear capacity to engage with research problems from a systematic and principle-driven perspective. Beyond producing technical results, he demonstrates a strong awareness of the broader academic ecosystem, including research methodology standardization, structured documentation, and alignment with established scientific norms. His approach reflects an understanding that impactful research is built not only on innovation, but also on clarity, reproducibility, and methodological coherence.

In academic communication, Dr. Luo is articulate, precise, and constructive. He participates actively in scholarly discussions, presents ideas with logical structure, and engages with peers in a manner that promotes mutual understanding and intellectual progress. His ability to communicate across disciplinary boundaries and to contribute meaningfully to collective academic dialogue distinguishes him as a researcher well prepared for international collaboration.

Dr. Luo also demonstrates sound judgment and responsibility in collaborative research settings. He approaches academic tasks with professionalism, respects diverse perspectives, and contributes to coordinated research efforts with consistency and reliability. These qualities are particularly valuable in large-scale or long-term research initiatives where coordination, consensus, and academic integrity are critical.

In summary, Dr. Luo Yan combines solid academic foundations, strong communication abilities, and a principled approach to research practice, making him a highly promising candidate for a competitive postdoctoral appointment. I recommend him without reservation and believe he will contribute positively to any high-level research environment.

Sincerely yours,
